FOREIGNERS AND WAGES.

The powerful democratic party is growing bolder daily in its attitude of free trade and abolition of all protection. The business is caused by the advocacy of free trade by multitudes of natural and European wage-workers, especially Irish and Germans. These foreign workmen Americanize the labor for half the wages they came from, and for the sake of cheaper merchandise and rents, which free trade secures, they are now supporting the party in this country which wants to adopt the British tariff system, with low wages, for the sake of the cheap goods it secures. -Chicago Tribune.

One thing of noteworthy interest in the foregoing paragraph is that it is taken from the Chicago Tribune, a republican paper that, until within a year or so, has been as strongly inclined to free trade and European wages as any democratic paper in the country. The conversion of the Tribune to judicious protection reminds one of Mr. Grosvenor, who wrote a work in 1837 on "Does Protection Protect?" answering it in the negative, and afterwards by more careful study of the question became a protectionist. But after printing this paragraph, the Tribune loses heart, and suggests that "the pressure for free trade is getting so strong that it looks as though the country would be forced to try it as an experiment, at least, sooner or later." But the Tribune does confess that there is one redeeming or hopeful feature in the situation and that is the farmers and the manufacturers are not demanding free trade, so that the influence and the vote of the great agricultural districts, and the power of manufacturers, may more than counterbalance the vote of the free trade workmen.

There is one interesting feature connected with workmen and free trade, which is well worth considering. If there is any one on earth who ought to be enthusiastic for the protection of American industries, it is the workman. He needs the protective system more than any one else. It establishes mills and foundries, and various workshops, in which he may find employment at a rate of wages far exceeding that ever known in a free trade country, or that was ever known in a country during a free trade period, and yet when one studies the presidential vote of 1888 he will find some facts that will astonish him. Take two cities for instance, New York and Cincinnati. In the former it was learned from the election returns that in the wards where there was the greater number of the lower order of wage-earners, there was an increase in the democratic vote. In other wards or districts where the better class of mechanics lived, there was an increase in the republican vote, while in the brown-stone front districts where aristocratic fared sumptuously every day, there was a full vote for the democracy. And an examination of the Cincinnati vote also records the fact that in the wards where there was a majority of the lower grade of workmen there was a large democratic vote—the very men who need protection of their wages and their homes, voted against such protection!

THE APPOINTMENT OF TAXES

A dispatch from Madison says that Secretary Timine has forwarded to the county clerks the annual tax apportionment, which is made up as follows:
1. Educational tax.
2. Special charges; that is, what the counties owe to the insane hospitals and industrial school for the care of their inmates and bad boys.
3. Principal and interest due on loans to counties, towns, cities, villages and school districts.
The amount of the educational tax was a little over a million dollars last year, but which was included $200,000 for the completion of science hall on the University grounds. Deducting this amount, and the tax this year is nearly six thousand dollars more than in 1888, which is due, of course, to the increase in the valuation of taxable property in the state.

The total educational tax for 1889 amounts to $875,529.82, and of this amount Rock county will pay $33,515.91. It will be understood that the county will recover much of this tax when the apportionment of the school money is made. It is possible that the county may be out of pocket some $12,000 or $15,000 by the operation of the educational tax, but the missing money will be in the form of a contribution to the poorer counties of the state who have a good many children and where school tax under the old law was not sufficient to support the common schools as they should be supported. So this educational mission work which the new law imposes is just in principle as well as merciful and generous in its operation. It is so righteous a system that some 31 states of the 35 have adopted it.

"BRADSTREET'S" REVIEW.

Tight Money Markets and Slow Mercantile Collections Still the Rule.

New York, Nov. 2.—Bradstreet's "State of Trade" says: "Out of thirty cities with close money markets or slow mercantile collections on Oct. 25 additional ease was reported yesterday at New Orleans and improving collections at Toledo only. Steel is relatively more active and has advanced more in price than iron, foundry pig having gained about $3 this year from the lowest point reached and Bessemer steel about $5. None of the steel mills are fully supplied with raw material. Copper is firm at 11 cents for lake and in more active demand. Higher rail rates for coal and iron tend to stiffen the prices asked. Wheat receipts at primary markets are fewer, but holders are firmer and export clean freight is weaker. Exported wheat (and flour as wheat) for the week of six days ending yesterday aggregated 1,593,352 bushels, against 2,197,469 bushels last week, and 1,345,814 bushels for the like week last year. The total exports from July 1 to date, one-third of the current cereal year, are 31,334,455 bushels, against 40,340,000 bushels in the like four months of 1888. Foreign shipments are declining sharply, as they did one year ago at this time. Business failures reported number 251 in the United States this week, as against 100 last week, and 230 this week last year. The total number of failures in the United States from Jan. 1 to date is 9,983, against 9,294 in 1888."

SNOWSTORMS IN THE WEST.

Trains Blocked and Wires Broken—A Blizzard in Wyoming.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—A heavy snow-storm visited Nebraska Friday, the heaviest for this time of the season for years. A drizzling rain fell all day Thursday and until about 3 o'clock Friday morning, when it developed into snow, which kept falling most all day. Fully six inches fell at this point. Reports show it to have been quite general over the territory reached by the Burlington system. Unprotected stock suffers considerably from the suddenness of the storm.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 2.—Heavy snow has fallen here. The storm played havoc with railway and telegraph wires and overran trains generally. A fall of about six inches of snow was reported at Union Pacific headquarters from several towns in Western Nebraska, while in Wyoming a blizzard prevailed, and it is feared that a blockade will compel the suspension of trains. Telegraph wires on the Burlington are broken at several points west of Omaha. Trains on the Elkhorn were delayed more or less owing to the heavy fall of snow in the territory traversed by the road. Snow is reported to have fallen as far west as Valentine, and the latter point reports the mercury in the thermometer rapidly falling and a cold wave prevailing.

FORTY KILLED.

Terrible Accident in a Glasgow Carpet Mill.

GLASGOW, Nov. 2.—Templeton & Co.'s carpet mills were partially demolished Friday afternoon while all hands were at work and a large number of lives were lost. A building next to the mills suddenly fell and carried down with it one side of the factory with parts of the floors. The weaving room was in this section of the building and was crowded with work girls. Tons of brick work fell upon them and nearly all were precipitated into the abyss caused by the wreck. The work of rescue was at once begun, and over 100 persons were taken from the ruins. As near as the authorities could ascertain forty were killed outright and twenty were seriously injured. Most of the killed and injured were young girls who were employed in the weaving room.

Tried to Wreck a Passenger Train.

BIO RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 2.—A dastardly attempt was made Friday morning to wreck a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train. A gentleman named Mantel had been bribed up and bloked, a foot above the track. The train encountered the obstruction when running at full speed, and every car, with the exception of the baggage car, left the track and ploughed some distance through the sand. The passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously hurt.

Robbed Express Packages of Valuables.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 2.—Frank M. Flay, an express messenger, and Mrs. Hyde, a boarding house keeper, were arrested last night for the robbery of express packages and other valuables from the Queen & Crescent railroad express packages.
